What is LAMP?

Language Acquisition through Motor Planning (LAMP) is a therapeutic approach based on neurological and motor learning principles. The goal is to give individuals who are nonverbal or have limited verbal abilities a method of independently and spontaneously expressing themselves in any setting. LAMP focuses on giving the individual independent access to vocabulary on voice output AAC devices that use consistent motor plans for accessing vocabulary. Teaching of the vocabulary happens across environments, with multisensory input to enhance meaning, and with the child's interests and desires determining the vocabulary to be taught. The LAMP approach was developed by utilizing motor learning principles along with the Unity® & Words for Life™ language systems.

Who can attend?

This event is appropriate for anyone who is interested in learning about LAMP, or who may already be implementing the LAMP approach. There will be a focus on implementation of the approach with children who have autism; however, the strategies are applicable to a range of individuals. Attendees may be parents, carers, therapists, educators, education support, students, and anyone with an interest in intervention with AAC.
