- All Liberator equipment trials are free of charge. When you receive your trial device there will be an instruction sheet in the box advising exactly how to return the equipment to Liberator, free of charge. This is a convenient way to send the device back using Australia Post e-parcel express service. Liberator does urge you to get devices back on time since otherwise customers awaiting their own trials are inconvenienced & the whole process takes far longer than it should.
- If you prefer not to use Liberator's offered free e-parcel service, then please return all equipment promptly via registered or express Australia Post, or via a reputable courier company, so that the consignment can be tracked & proof of delivery verified.

Please read the following conditions & sign the form if you agree to them, before either emailing to:

tan@liberator.net.au, faxing (08) 8211 7733 or posting back to Liberator.

- No equipment will be issued until a signed Trial Agreement Form has been received
- Items can be trialled for between 1 & 3 weeks
- If longer is then required than that stated on the form, Liberator must be notified & agree to any such extension
- If a device is returned later than the agreed date then a $50 late fee will be charged for every week or part thereof beyond the due date
- If a device is returned in an unclean condition then Liberator may apply at its discretion a cleaning fee of $50
- All equipment is to be returned in the packaging sent by Liberator. Every item & accessory sent by Liberator must be returned, otherwise the customer will be charged for replacements. Each consignment will include a checklist signed by Liberator's dispatcher. If there is any discrepancy please notify Liberator immediately.
- Liberator will absorb any damage costs, including physical damage sustained to trial devices. We know that the likely incidence of significant damage is slight, but in any event Liberator will not seek restitution, but will simply repair the equipment and return it to you for the duration of the Agreement. However, Liberator expects due care to be taken wherever possible by all concerned. Loss or total destruction of the devices through negligence, remains a liability. Yet, Liberator would only ever seek to recoup the replacement value from families/ organisations in such circumstances, which is substantially less than the retail price.

I have read & understood all the above conditions & agree to them without reservation:
